We are available for you.

Despite a virus turning the world upside down – the Engineers of Taste will take care!

Of course, we strictly follow legal rules and restrictions but we all continue working for you:

Part of our team is working at home, the others are busy in our Oberlahr headquarter. Thus all departments are available for you. We also enforce our IT structure to be in full function even in case of force majeure.

Thanks to digital media tools we can stay in close contact with you. Many of us already use MS Teams, which offers the possibility to combine video conferences with documents, or handouts for each participant. Actually we are working on a solution to transmit live cutting tests according to your requirements via video directly to you. Further steps towards a digital Food Cutting Center are planned.

Should you require personal support in your own premises, please do not hesitate to contact us – we will find an individual solution. Our Service Team is well prepared, all technicians are available for installations or regular checks.

Please follow our Live Ticker which you will find on our website www.treif.com. Here we will inform you regularly about further developments and news.

You can count on us!

With our best wishes
